Looking for some exciting fun this Summer?

Then the Junior Summer Theatre Troupe might be for you.

The mission of the Junior Summer Theatre Troupe (JSTT) is to focus and showcase the creativity and talents of young actors and actresses through the theatre arts. JSTT is a three-week program in which participants spend time developing basic theatre skills through games, team building activities, performance, music, lighting, sound, and set design.

Participants use these skills to develop, produce and perform a musical for the final day of class. This year's production will be "School House Rock LIVE!" made famous by the Saturday morning cartoon programming of the 80s and 90s. The final show is open to all parents and family members.

Registration includes 3 weeks of the theatre class from 9-3, all supplies, a JSTT t-shirt, and family admission to the final performance on July 29th in the Duffy Center for the Arts.
